The New Rule:

Beginning April 22, 2010, federal law requires that all persons performing renovation, repair, and painting projects that disturb paint be certified LEAD Safe Renovators and follow lead-safe work practices.

Who must comply?

This rule applies to anyone performing work that will disturb more than one square foot of paint in any home built before 1978 (target housing) as well as any child-occupied facility built before 1978. Landlords, property managers, contractors, renovators, and their employees are responsible for ensuring compliance with the rule.
